MARK SCHEME

Maximum Mark: 50

Published

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and candidates, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which Examiners were instructed to award marks. It does not indicate the details of the discussions that took place at an Examiners' meeting before marking began, which would have considered the acceptability of alternative answers.

Mark schemes should be read in conjunction with the question paper and the Principal Examiner Report for Teachers.

Cambridge International will not enter into discussions about these mark schemes.

Cambridge International is publishing the mark schemes for the October/November 2022 series for most Cambridge IGCSE™, Cambridge International A and AS Level components and some Cambridge O Level components.

This document consists of 16 printed pages.

Generic Marking Principles

These general marking principles must be applied by all examiners when marking candidate answers. They should be applied alongside the specific content of the mark scheme or generic level descriptors for a question. Each question paper and mark scheme will also comply with these marking principles.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 1:

Marks must be awarded in line with:

- the specific content of the mark scheme or the generic level descriptors for the question
- the specific skills defined in the mark scheme or in the generic level descriptors for the question
- the standard of response required by a candidate as exemplified by the standardisation scripts.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 2:

Marks awarded are always whole marks (not half marks, or other fractions).

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 3:

Marks must be awarded positively:

- marks are awarded for correct/valid answers, as defined in the mark scheme. However, credit is given for valid answers which go beyond the scope of the syllabus and mark scheme, referring to your Team Leader as appropriate
- marks are awarded when candidates clearly demonstrate what they know and can do
- marks are not deducted for errors
- marks are not deducted for omissions
- answers should only be judged on the quality of spelling, punctuation and grammar when these features are specifically assessed by the question as indicated by the mark scheme. The meaning, however, should be unambiguous.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 4:

Rules must be applied consistently, e.g. in situations where candidates have not followed instructions or in the application of generic level descriptors.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 5:

Marks should be awarded using the full range of marks defined in the mark scheme for the question (however; the use of the full mark range may be limited according to the quality of the candidate responses seen).

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 6:

Marks awarded are based solely on the requirements as defined in the mark scheme. Marks should not be awarded with grade thresholds or grade descriptors in mind.

General guidance for marking extended response and essay questions

Candidates must address the question set and reach an overall judgement, but no set answer is expected. The questions can be approached in various ways and what matters is not the conclusions reached but the quality and breadth of the argument offered by an answer.

Examiners are encouraged to constantly refresh their awareness of the question and be aware of any requirements set by the question to use sources or make reference to specific examples.

Indicative content in the question-specific mark schemes will neither be exhaustive nor prescriptive. Appropriate, supported responses which address the question should be rewarded.

Relevant accurate knowledge from outside the prescribed Sources for Study e.g. literary or historical sources not set in the Sources for Study should be rewarded as appropriate.

Guidance on using levels-based mark schemes

Marking of work should be positive, rewarding achievement where possible, but clearly differentiating across the whole range of marks, where appropriate.

The examiner should look at the work and then make a judgement about which level statement is the best fit. In practice, work does not always match one level statement precisely so a judgement may need to be made between two or more level statements.

Once a best-fit level statement has been identified, use the following guidance to decide on a specific mark:

- If the candidate's work convincingly meets the level statement, award the highest mark.
- If the candidate's work adequately meets the level statement, award the most appropriate mark in the middle of the range (where middle marks are available).
- If the candidate's work just meets the level statement, award the lowest mark.

6	‘Aeneas is never free to make his own decisions.’ How far do you agree with this statement in the books of the Aeneid you have studied? Use the 25 mark essay marking criteria. AO1 – Knowledge and understanding – 12 marks. Marks should be awarded using the marking criteria for AO1. Candidates may choose to include: Free decisions: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • His decision to fight in Troy • His decision to stay with Dido • His decision to speak with Dido in the Underworld • His killing spree and capture of sacrificial victims • His decision to kill Lausus • His decision to kill Turnus. Fated/No Choice <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The fall of Troy • His destiny to leave Troy and lead the Trojans to a new home • Leaving Dido • The rise of the Romans – the pageant of heroes in the Underworld. AO2 – Analysis and evaluation – 13 marks. Marks should be awarded using the marking criteria for AO2. Candidates can argue for or against the statement as long as their discussion is justified with close reference to the text. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Aeneas is often regarded as a mere puppet of the gods – he is fated to go to Italy so it may seem as though there are few decisions that he is able to make of his own accord. • Book 2 perhaps offers the most scope for candidates to explore Aeneas’ ability to make his own decisions – for example, he chooses to fight when he has been told to flee, when Anchises refuses to leave he decides that he will stay; ultimately though gods and fate mean that he leaves. • In Book 4, his relationship with Dido has been caused by the gods, although some candidates may note that Venus caused Dido to fall in love with Aeneas rather than vice versa so perhaps it is Aeneas’ decision to stay. His departure from Carthage is not his own decision • In Book 6 it is Aeneas’ desire to see his father that takes him down into the Underworld. The pageant of heroes then shows Aeneas the future and becomes a key turning point in his mission. Often it seems that Aeneas is able to make his own decisions but then fate and the gods will intervene to ensure that his mission is completed • In Book 8 – candidates could argue that the shield represents Aeneas’ fixed destiny • In Book 10 Aeneas makes his own decisions including capturing prisoners as sacrifices and not sparing Lausus • The death of Turnus is the ultimate example of Aeneas’ free will • Although Aeneas has a fated destiny it is clear that there are examples throughout the epic where Aeneas can and does make his own decisions. 	25
