MARK SCHEME

Maximum Mark: 50

Published

This mark scheme is published as an aid to teachers and candidates, to indicate the requirements of the examination. It shows the basis on which Examiners were instructed to award marks. It does not indicate the details of the discussions that took place at an Examiners' meeting before marking began, which would have considered the acceptability of alternative answers.

Mark schemes should be read in conjunction with the question paper and the Principal Examiner Report for Teachers.

Cambridge International will not enter into discussions about these mark schemes.

Cambridge International is publishing the mark schemes for the May/June 2022 series for most Cambridge IGCSE, Cambridge International A and AS Level and Cambridge Pre-U components, and some Cambridge O Level components.

This document consists of 15 printed pages.

PUBLISHEDGeneric Marking Principles

These general marking principles must be applied by all examiners when marking candidate answers. They should be applied alongside the specific content of the mark scheme or generic level descriptors for a question. Each question paper and mark scheme will also comply with these marking principles.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 1:

Marks must be awarded in line with:

- the specific content of the mark scheme or the generic level descriptors for the question
- the specific skills defined in the mark scheme or in the generic level descriptors for the question
- the standard of response required by a candidate as exemplified by the standardisation scripts.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 2:

Marks awarded are always whole marks (not half marks, or other fractions).

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 3:

Marks must be awarded positively:

- marks are awarded for correct/valid answers, as defined in the mark scheme. However, credit is given for valid answers which go beyond the scope of the syllabus and mark scheme, referring to your Team Leader as appropriate
- marks are awarded when candidates clearly demonstrate what they know and can do
- marks are not deducted for errors
- marks are not deducted for omissions
- answers should only be judged on the quality of spelling, punctuation and grammar when these features are specifically assessed by the question as indicated by the mark scheme. The meaning, however, should be unambiguous.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 4:

Rules must be applied consistently, e.g. in situations where candidates have not followed instructions or in the application of generic level descriptors.

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 5:

Marks should be awarded using the full range of marks defined in the mark scheme for the question (however; the use of the full mark range may be limited according to the quality of the candidate responses seen).

GENERIC MARKING PRINCIPLE 6:

Marks awarded are based solely on the requirements as defined in the mark scheme. Marks should not be awarded with grade thresholds or grade descriptors in mind.

Generic levels of response descriptors

These level descriptors address assessment objectives (AOs) 1 and 2 and should be used in conjunction with the indicative content for each question in the mark scheme.

Assessment objectivesAO1 Knowledge and understanding

Demonstrate knowledge and understanding of Islamic teachings, texts, beliefs and practices including their relevance for individual Muslims and communities.

AO2 Analysis and evaluation

Analyse, evaluate and discuss evidence, points of view and issues in Islam.

Generic marking principles

- (a) Examiners should use the performance summary statements at the top of the descriptors to help to identify a level which matches the candidate's response. However, the final decision on the band and the mark within the band should be made on the basis of all the descriptors in the level and not primarily using the performance summary statement.
- (b) Examiners should start at the lowest level, if the answer meets all the criteria they should then move to the next level and so on. The Examiner should repeat this process until there is a match between the overall answer and the level descriptor. Examiners should use a best-fit approach when deciding upon the level, it is possible for a different level to be chosen for each AO.
- (c) If the Examiner identifies all aspects of the level descriptor within the answer then the highest mark for the level should be given. Examiners should also make reference to the indicative content when deciding on the mark within a level to ensure that there is sufficient relevant content evident within the answer for the level and mark. Examiners should be prepared to credit material in answers which is not contained in the indicative content.
- (d) The Examiner may need to make a judgement within a level or between two or more level statements. Once a 'best-fit' level statement has been identified, use the following guidance to decide on a specific mark:
 - Where the candidate's work convincingly meets the level statement, you should award the highest mark.
 - Where the candidate's work adequately meets the level statement, you should award the most appropriate mark in the middle of the range.
 - Where the candidate's work just meets the level statement, you should award the lowest mark.

(Ibn Majah) • This verse also promotes the fulfilment of engagements/promises as they are sacred in Islam and breaking them will incur a punishment in the hereafter. • Breaking an engagement/oath makes one a liar, as mentioned in the Hadith about the signs of a hypocrite: 'Whenever he promises, he breaks his promise. Whenever he makes a covenant, he proves treacherous and whenever he speaks, he tells a lie.' (Muslim) | 5 |

| 1(b) | Explain Muhammad’s treatment of those who lived close to him. You must refer to Hadith 309 and at least one other Hadith you have studied. AO1 – Knowledge and understanding Mark according to the AO1 – 10 mark levels of response marking grid for knowledge and understanding. Answers may include some of the following ideas, but all valid material must be credited. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The Prophet (pbuh), the role model for the Muslims, always treated people around him in the best of manners. • As the person who lives the closest, it is easy to harm neighbours, by throwing rubbish in their garden, blocking their passage, taking their space, etc. So extra care needs to be taken so as not to fall into these pitfalls. • The Prophet (pbuh) specifically recommended good treatment to neighbours. In Hadith 309, the Prophet (pbuh) links good treatment of neighbours with belief in God and the afterlife, showing its importance in Islam. • To support their answer candidates could also refer to the Hadith of the Prophet (pbuh) in Bukhari where he said that one whose neighbour does not feel safe from their evil action is not considered a believer. Therefore, Muslims should try not to harm them, either intentionally or unintentionally, in order to be among the believers. • Sharing food with them is a good way to strengthen ties with neighbours. In a Hadith in Bukhari the Prophet (pbuh) has said: ‘He is not a believer who eats his fill whilst his neighbour beside him goes hungry’. • Islam is a religion of sharing and caring and it is an act of selfishness not to provide for the neighbours when you know they might be struggling. The Prophet (pbuh) himself when he was living in Madina told his wife when they were cooking not to forget to share with the Jewish neighbour, showing that it does not matter whether the neighbour is of different faith, they still need to be well treated. • The Prophet (pbuh) has also warned of the misuse of the tongue to cause harm to neighbours, either by backbiting or arguing with them over petty issues, etc. Abu Huraira in a Hadith by Ahmad says: ‘O Messenger of Allah! There is a woman who prays, gives charity and fasts a great deal, but she harms her neighbours with her speech (by insulting them).’ He said: ‘She will go to hell’. | 10 |

| 1(c) | To what extent does Islam promote social care? You should refer to different points of view. AO2 – Analysis and evaluation Mark according to the AO2 – 10 mark levels of response marking grid for analysis and evaluation. Answers may refer to any Islamic religious theory or teaching. Candidates may propose, analyse and evaluate some of the following arguments. All relevant arguments must be credited. Candidates can start by explaining what they understand by social care, as in Islam taking care of close ones is the responsibility of the family first and foremost. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Islam, as a religion, stresses the rights of people (huquq al ibaad) as much as the rights of God (huququllah). • In fact, in some places in the Qur'an the rights of humans come right after rights of God, e.g. in 4.36 'Serve Allah, and join not any partners with Him; and do good- to parents, kinsfolk, orphans, those in need, neighbours who are near, neighbours who are strangers, the companion by your side, the wayfarer (ye meet), and what your right hands possess: For Allah loveth not the arrogant, the vainglorious.' • Along with close relatives Islam also recommends that Muslims should look after the people who live around them, such as neighbours, colleagues at work and guests. Candidates could refer to Hadith 309. • The downtrodden in society are also to be taken care of and such an act has special value in Islam as mentioned in the Hadith in Bukhari 'One who strives to help the widow and the poor man is like the one who exerts himself in the way of Allah, or the one who stands for prayer in the night or fasts in the day.' • Orphans are to be looked after and cared for, as recommended by the Prophet (pbuh) as they are very vulnerable and can be subject to exploitation. Refer to the Hadith of the Prophet (pbuh): 'Me and the one who takes care of the orphan will be in Paradise together.' • Young people and elders are also not forgotten as they also deserve to be treated with kindness. 'Whoever does not show mercy to our young ones, or acknowledge the rights of our elders, is not one of us.' (Hadith in Ahmad) • It is also encouraged for Muslims to take care of their parents themselves when they reach old age and avoid leaving them in homes to be cared for by others. It is part of showing gratefulness to them to treat them kindly and look after them now that they are in a weak position. 'Thy Lord hath decreed that ye worship none but Him, and that ye be kind to parents. Whether one or both of them attain old age in thy life, say not to them a word of contempt, nor repel them, but address them in terms of honour.' (Qur'an 17.23) • Whilst all the above is encouraged, candidates might argue that taking care/looking after others should not come in the way of performing other religious duties, e.g. accomplishing the Five Pillars of Islam. | 10 |

| 2(a) | Explain the Muslim belief in God. AO1 – Knowledge and understanding Mark according to the AO1 – 10 mark levels of response marking grid for knowledge and understanding. Answers may include some of the following ideas, but all valid material must be credited. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Muslims believe in the oneness and unity of Allah (tawhid) as expressed in the first of the Five Pillars of Islam, the statement of faith (shahadah). • Muslims also acknowledge God as Supreme Lord and Master of all Creation, the Maker of the Heaven and Earth. Belief in God's lordship and supremacy means that both heaven and earth and all that is in between them and beyond belongs to God. • He alone is the master who created everything that exists from nothingness, and everything is dependent on him for its existence and continuation. He alone has the power to bring them all to an end and to bring them to life again. He is not only the creator but also the sustainer of all creation on earth and in heaven and therefore he is the sole provider/carer (Rabb) of the entire world. • Muslims believe that belief in God's lordship leads to the belief in his worship. Since he is the one who created them and provided for them, therefore no one deserves to be worshipped except for him alone and no one should be put on a par with God. In Qur'an 13.16 God says: 'Say: 'Who is the Lord and Sustainer of the heavens and the earth?' Say: '(It is) Allah.' Say: 'Do ye then take (for worship) protectors other than Him, such as have no power either for good or for harm to themselves?' • Islam stresses the need to have firm belief in various attributes of God, the Creator and the controller of the universe. He is the Lord of all the worlds. He is gracious and merciful. He is master of the Day of Judgement (1.1–4). God's attribute of Samad (Sura 112) means that he is the Supreme Being who exists independently of everything else. He does not need anyone whereas the whole universe is in need of him. • Contrarily to humans, God does not have children nor is he the parent of anyone (12.2–5). He does not have any human quality nor any human needs, such as hunger and thirst (35.15). He does not fall asleep (2.255). He is unique in his qualities (112.4). | 10 |

| 2(b) | ‘For a Muslim the only essential belief is the Oneness of Allah (tawhid).’ Evaluate this statement. AO2 – Analysis and evaluation Mark according to the AO2 – 15 mark levels of response marking grid for analysis and evaluation. Answers may refer to any Islamic religious theory or teaching. Candidates may propose, analyse and evaluate some of the following arguments. All relevant arguments must be credited. Candidates could give a brief introduction on what the oneness of God means to a Muslim and then evaluate the statement. Agree <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • For a Muslim, the most important belief is the belief in the oneness of God (tawhid) as it is the first requirement for a person to enter the fold of Islam. It is also the first Pillar of Islam and the first Article of Faith. Without believing in it a person is not considered a Muslim. • If this belief is absent, or associates are given to God, this is considered as shirk, the greatest sin of all, which is not forgiven. Qur’an 4.116 ‘Allah forgiveth not (The sin of) joining other gods with Him; but He forgiveth whom He pleaseth other sins than this: one who joins other gods with Allah, Hath strayed far, far away (from the right).’ • In a Hadith the Prophet (pbuh) said: ‘He who has in his heart as much faith as a grain of mustard seed will not enter hell, and he who has in his heart as much pride as a grain of mustard seed will not enter paradise.’ This was referring to belief in God, which guarantees paradise to the person having it. Disagree <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Candidates can argue that though belief in God’s oneness is enough to attain salvation in the hereafter, it is not enough to lead a good life on earth. • Muslims also need to believe in the other Articles of Faith in order for their faith to be complete. • Muslims’ belief in angels, books and prophets are also important as they are the means through which humans get to know about God’s message about how to lead a righteous life. The prophets all conveyed the message of God to humans, through the books which were revealed through Angel Jibreel. • Belief in the Day of Judgment is also essential as humans will be judged for their actions in this life and will be rewarded by paradise or punished by hell. It will lead them to follow God’s guidance. • Belief in the divine decree also is imperative for a Muslim as it addresses the question of God’s will. It is the belief that everything is governed by divine decree, and that whatever happens in one’s life it is preordained, and that believers should respond to the good or bad that befalls them with thankfulness or patience. Conclusion: Candidates could make an overall judgment about whether belief in God is the most essential of all beliefs or whether all the beliefs are needed to be a good Muslim. | 15 |

| 3(b) | Assess the importance of marriage for society. You should refer to Islam in your answer. Mark according to the AO2 – 15 mark levels of response marking grid for analysis and evaluation. Answers may refer to any Islamic religious theory or teaching. Candidates may propose, analyse and evaluate some of the following arguments. All relevant arguments must be credited. Candidates could explain the importance of marriage in Islam as shown in Qur’an 24.32 (‘And marry those among you who are single and those who are fit among your male slaves and your female slaves; if they are needy, Allah will make them free from want out of His grace; and Allah is Ample-giving, Knowing.’) and then assess the importance for society. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Islam recommends the satisfaction of the natural urges in humans through the sanctity of marriage. By restricting it to the partners of marriage it ensures the responsibility for its consequences. When Muslims marry, they are committing themselves to that person, whereas changing partners regularly or living with them outside marriage can lead to immorality, lewdness and instability, which in turn will shake the harmony in society. • Islam also recognises that having children is important to perpetuate and strengthen the human race. For that purpose, the Prophet (pbuh) has encouraged the marrying of fertile women in order to increase the Islamic community (ummah). But giving birth to children is not enough, caring for and raising children in the proper manner is a duty on parents. Married couples give a solid foundation to children to be raised in a healthy way, as both partners view their role as a partnership. This helps to give stability in society as it can help prevent problems such as delinquency and drug addiction. • Marriage, however, is also beneficial on the personal level. The purpose of marriage in Islam is for a couple to be company for one another, to give love and comfort to each other and to live in peace and calmness according to the commandments of God. Candidates could refer to Qur’an 30.21: ‘And among His Signs is this, that He created for you mates from among yourselves, that ye may dwell in tranquillity with them, and He has put love and mercy between your (hearts): verily in that are Signs for those who reflect.’ • Islam acknowledges the sexual needs of individuals and does not want to repress or suppress it. As evidence, the Prophet (pbuh) has encouraged marriage for young men where these needs are greater: ‘O you young men! I recommend marriage to you.’ He also said whoever gets married is following his path (Sunnah). • Candidates could argue that for some Muslims marriage is not as important, in fact they may consider it a distraction and may prefer celibacy in order to attain to a higher degree of spirituality e.g. in some Sufi orders. • Some candidates could also argue that since marriage is essential for individuals, society as well will benefit from it. Others can argue that it is not that essential for individuals or society, there are other pillars which are more essential. Conclusion: Candidates should make an overall judgement on whether marriage is important for society, for the individual, for both or not essential at all. | 15 |
