- 1 (a) Frank has been a Member of Parliament (MP) for 20 years. He has been reported to the Committee on Standards for sending inappropriate emails to a female colleague. The Committee suspends Frank from sitting as an MP for a month. The Speaker gives notice of what has happened to the petition officer, who organises a recall petition. Frank is a very popular MP and out of 100 000 registered voters, less than 5 per cent sign the petition.

Explain how the Recall of MPs Act 2015 will apply to Frank. [10]

- (b) Anya has been an MP for 10 years when she is convicted of theft. She appeals against her conviction but before the appeal hearing the Speaker tells the petition officer in Anya's constituency of her conviction. The petition officer is interviewed on local radio and says he will set up a recall petition at his office the next day. Fifty per cent of registered voters sign the petition. Anya's appeal is successful and her conviction is overturned.

Explain how the Recall of MPs Act 2015 will apply to Anya. [10]

- (c) Carl is an MP who is convicted of making false claims for his travelling expenses. He appeals but his conviction is upheld six months later. The next day, the Speaker informs the petition officer. In an interview on local television on 1 June, the petition officer says that copies of the petition are available in nine shops across the town and that there is a month in which to sign. On 1 July, 80 per cent of registered voters have signed the petition.

Explain how the Recall of MPs Act 2015 will apply to Carl. [10]

- (d) Explain the sources of ideas for legislation and the process by which they become Acts of Parliament. Assess the effectiveness of these processes. [20]

Recall of MPs Act 2015

Section 1 How an MP becomes subject to a recall petition process

- (1) An MP becomes subject to a recall petition process if—
 - (a) the first, second or third recall condition has been met in relation to the MP, and
 - (b) the Speaker gives notice of that fact under section 5.
- (2) In this Act “recall petition” means a petition calling—
 - (a) for an MP to lose his or her seat in the House of Commons, and
 - (b) for a by-election to be held to decide who should be the MP for the constituency in question.
- (3) The first recall condition is that—
 - (a) the MP has, after becoming an MP, been convicted in the United Kingdom of an offence and sentenced or ordered to be imprisoned or detained, and
 - (b) the appeal period expires without the conviction, sentence or order having being overturned on appeal.
- (4) The second recall condition is that, following on from a report from the Committee on Standards in relation to the MP, the House of Commons orders the suspension of the MP from the service of the House for a specified period of the requisite length.
- (5) A specified period is “of the requisite length” for the purposes of subsection (4) if—
 - (a) where the period is expressed as a number of sitting days, the period specified is of at least 10 sitting days, or
 - (b) in any other case, the period specified (however expressed) is a period of at least 14 days.
- (6) ...
- (9) The third recall condition is that—
 - (a) the MP has, after becoming an MP, been convicted of an offence under section 10 of the Parliamentary Standards Act 2009 (offence of providing false or misleading information for allowances claims), and
 - (b) the appeal period expires without the conviction having been overturned on appeal.

Section 5 Speaker’s notice that first, second or third recall condition has been met

- (1) As soon as reasonably practicable after becoming aware that the first, second or third recall condition has been met in relation to an MP, the Speaker must give notice of that fact to the petition officer for the MP’s constituency.

Section 7 Where and from when the recall petition may be signed

- (1) Where the petition officer for a constituency receives a Speaker’s notice, the officer must, as soon as reasonably practicable, designate—
 - (a) a place, or places, at which a recall petition is to be made available for signing, and
 - (b) a day from which the petition is to be made available for signing.
- (2) A maximum of 10 places may be designated under subsection (1)(a).

- 2 (a) A vacancy arises for a judge in the Supreme Court. The Lord Chancellor and his deputy meet to decide who to appoint. Patrick, an old friend of the Lord Chancellor, was a barrister for 15 years before sitting in the Court of Appeal for 5 years. He is currently ending a two year contract teaching law at an American university. The Lord Chancellor writes to the Prime Minister with Patrick's name and the Prime Minister recommends Patrick is appointed.

Explain how the Constitutional Reform Act 2005 will apply to Patrick. [10]

- (b) A new Deputy President of the Supreme Court is needed so the Lord Chancellor sets up a selection commission to choose one. Jane has been a successful advocate in Scotland and England for 20 years. Jane has the support of judges in every part of the United Kingdom (England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland) who are not on the commission. As there is no Scottish judge in the Supreme Court, the Lord Chancellor sends Jane's name to the Prime Minister and he recommends her appointment.

Explain how the Constitutional Reform Act 2005 will apply to Jane. [10]

- (c) A new President of the Supreme Court is needed. Lord Kent is a member of the Lord Chancellor's selection commission and he has been a member of the Supreme Court for six years. Lots of senior judges support Lord Kent's nomination but the Lord Chancellor prefers Lady Jones, who has also been a Supreme Court judge for six years. The Lord Chancellor sends both names to the Prime Minister, who recommends that Lord Kent is appointed.

Explain how the Constitutional Reform Act 2005 will apply to Lord Kent. [10]
