Paper 1 Reading and Writing

May/June 2026MARK SCHEMEMaximum Mark: 60

Published

This mark scheme contains the instructions and marking guidance that our examiners used to mark candidate responses for this component.

Before they start marking, examiners complete a standardisation process. They review a range of candidate responses and discuss the mark scheme in detail to agree which answers can and cannot be accepted. Examiners award marks where it is clear that candidate responses have met the requirements of the mark scheme. These requirements may vary between different components or different versions of the same component, depending on the exact requirements of the question and the candidate responses seen during the standardisation process.

Sometimes, our mark schemes may allow marks to be awarded to responses which contain elements that are factually incorrect or for content not covered by the syllabus. We do this in response to the demands of a specific question to support candidates and make sure that our assessments are fair. However, these allowances should not be used as a guide for teaching and learning.

We cannot discuss the mark scheme with schools, and we recommend that schools read the mark scheme together with the assessment material and the Principal Examiner Report for Teachers.

This document consists of 12 printed pages.

General marking principles

All examiners must apply these marking principles when marking candidate responses.

1	Examiners must award marks for each response in line with: - the specific content defined in the mark scheme - the specific skills defined in the mark scheme or in the level descriptions - the standard of response required as exemplified by the standardisation scripts.
2	Examiners must award whole marks (not half marks, or other fractions).
3	Examiners must award marks positively . This means that: - marks are not deducted for errors or omissions - marks are awarded for correct/valid answers as defined in the mark scheme and also for other valid answers which go beyond the scope of the syllabus and mark scheme referring to your team leader as appropriate - the quality of spelling, punctuation and grammar are judged only when the mark scheme indicates that these features are specifically assessed in the question. However, the meaning of all responses must be unambiguous.
4	Examiners must consistently apply the requirements of the mark scheme and any rules for what to do when candidates have not followed instructions correctly.
5	Examiners must use the full range of marks defined in the mark scheme, unless limited by the quality of the candidate responses seen.
6	Examiners must award marks according to the mark scheme and must not award marks with grade thresholds or grade descriptions in mind.

Annotations guidance for centres

Examiners use a system of annotations as a shorthand for communicating their marking decisions to one another. Examiners are trained during the standardisation process on how and when to use annotations. The purpose of annotations is to inform the standardisation and monitoring processes and guide the supervising examiners when they are checking the work of examiners within their team. The meaning of annotations and how they are used is specific to each component and is understood by all examiners who mark the component.

We publish annotations in our mark schemes to help centres understand the annotations they may see on copies of scripts. Note that there may not be a direct correlation between the number of annotations on a script and the mark awarded. Similarly, the use of an annotation may not be an indication of the quality of the response.

The annotations listed below were available to examiners marking this component in this series.

Generic marking criteria for Exercises 5 and 6

The following general instructions, and levels-based Marking criteria for Questions 16 & 17, apply to both Exercises 5 and 6.

- You should decide on a mark for Content and Language separately.
- Content covers task fulfilment (to what extent the response addresses the rubric, uses an appropriate register (informal/formal/semi-formal), is relevant and engages the audience/intended reader, AND the development of ideas (i.e. the level of detail/expansion of ideas).
- Language covers range (i.e. complexity of vocabulary and grammatical structure) and accuracy and overall organisation of the response).
- When deciding on a mark for Content or Language, first of all decide which level you consider to be most appropriate.

When deciding on a mark within a level, use the lower marks if it fulfils some of the requirements of the level and the highest mark if it fulfils all the requirements of the level.

If all descriptors are met within one level, consider whether a mark can be awarded from the next level up. There will not necessarily be an exact fit but remember to apply a positive marking approach.

- If the writing is considerably shorter than the stated word length, i.e. below 85 words, it should be given 1–2 marks for Content for only partially fulfilling the task.
- In Exercise 5, email, if the response has omitted one OR two of the 3 required bullet points, a maximum of 2 marks can be awarded for Content.
- If the writing is only partially relevant and therefore can be awarded only 1–2 Content marks, the full range of marks for Language is still available.
- If the writing is totally irrelevant and has nothing to do with the question asked, it should be given 0 marks for Content and Language.
