
SOCIOLOGY

0495/13

Paper 1

May/June 2016

2 hours (including 15 minutes' reading time)

No Additional Materials are required.

READ THESE INSTRUCTIONS FIRST

An answer booklet is provided inside this question paper. You should follow the instructions on the front cover of the answer booklet. If you need additional answer paper ask the invigilator for a continuation booklet.

Answer Question 1 and either Question 2 or 3.

The number of marks is given in brackets [] at the end of each question or part question.

This document consists of 3 printed pages, 1 blank page and 1 insert.

Section A: Theory and methods

Answer Question 1.

1 Source A

In 1937 Bill Whyte began a three and a half year study into an Italian-American gang in Boston, USA. This classic study, called 'Street Corner Society', was based on participant observation. One of the difficulties Bill Whyte faced was gaining entry into the group. He was helped by the gang leader Doc.

Doc later told Bill Whyte:

'Now when I do something I have to think what Bill Whyte would want to know about it and how I can explain it. Before, I used to do things by instinct.'

Bill Whyte later admitted that he had become so involved with the gang that he had become a non-observant participant rather than a non-participant observer.

- (a) Identify two reasons why researchers might have difficulties gaining entry to groups like gangs. [2]
- (b) Identify two methods that might be used to research gangs, apart from observation. [2]
- (c) Using information from Source A, describe two ways in which the observer might influence the behaviour of those being observed. [4]
- (d) Describe two strengths of using non-participant observation in sociological research. [4]
- (e) Describe two strengths and two limitations of unstructured interviews. [8]
- (f) Explain why the results of participant observation studies may be unreliable. [10]
- (g) To what extent does the presence of the researcher affect the validity of the research? [15]

Answer either Question 2 or Question 3.

Section B: Culture, identity and socialisation

- 2 A society's culture includes its norms, values and the roles people are expected to play. The norms of one society can be very different to those of another. In some societies polygamy is an acceptable practice. In other societies it is unacceptable and illegal.
- (a) What is meant by the term 'norms'? [2]
- (b) Describe two examples of values. [4]
- (c) Explain how norms and values depend on time and place. [6]
- (d) Explain why role conflict occurs. [8]
- (e) To what extent can it be claimed that some values are universal? [15]

Section C: Social inequality

3

The Caste System

- (a) What is meant by the term 'caste'? [2]
- (b) Describe two forms of social stratification, apart from the Caste System. [4]
- (c) Explain how an individual can have high status but have little wealth. [6]
- (d) Explain why people at the bottom of the social class system experience poor life chances. [8]
- (e) To what extent is social mobility possible in an open society? [15]

BLANK PAGE

Permission to reproduce items where third-party owned material protected by copyright is included has been sought and cleared where possible. Every reasonable effort has been made by the publisher (UCLES) to trace copyright holders, but if any items requiring clearance have unwittingly been included, the publisher will be pleased to make amends at the earliest possible opportunity.

To avoid the issue of disclosure of answer-related information to candidates, all copyright acknowledgements are reproduced online in the Cambridge International Examinations Copyright Acknowledgements Booklet. This is produced for each series of examinations and is freely available to download at www.cie.org.uk after the live examination series.

Cambridge International Examinations is part of the Cambridge Assessment Group. Cambridge Assessment is the brand name of University of Cambridge Local Examinations Syndicate (UCLES), which is itself a department of the University of Cambridge.