Extract A

Symington's Ltd – providing great tasting food for 180 years

Symington's is a UK food company that specialises in making dried, packaged convenience food products such as soup, pasta and noodles. Symington's has six sites in Yorkshire and employs 800 people, a 100% increase on five years ago.

Fast-paced consumer lifestyles and the increasing popularity of Symington's products in supermarkets has helped the company grow, even though it operates in a competitive market. However, it has led to the risk of over-utilisation of capacity. Further growth is being considered by the directors. 5

One of the most popular brands made by Symington's is a range of dried pasta, rice and noodles that are made in a mug or a cup. The range is called 'Mug Shot' and there are a variety of flavours available, each with a price of less than £1.00. Growth of the business would enable production of several flavours at the same time. 10

Motorcycles on Malé

Malé, the island capital of the Maldives, is one of the most densely populated cities in the world. There are estimated to be 15,000 motorcycles registered on the island, which has an area of less than 200 hectares and a population of more than 100,000.

A large number of motorcycles mean a large number of motorcycle service and repair shops. However, it can be a challenge for owners of these businesses to remain competitive. Although inflation is currently low, costs of parts to repair the motorcycles are expensive. This is due to the high cost of transportation to the island. It means each business needs to use different methods to compete in an attempt to win custom from other businesses.

Some repair shops charge very low prices as this can appeal to many customers. However, a high number of customers are needed in order to pay the fixed costs of the business. Other repair shops have advertised by putting posters around the island or delivering leaflets giving details of services offered. This can give customers information about repair shops in different parts of the island.

Jetty Service Centre tries to do something a bit different. It charges an annual fee to customers, which is paid in monthly instalments. Customers can then return to have their motorcycles serviced and repaired as many times as needed in that year, but the price of motorcycle parts are an additional cost.

"This different approach had been reasonably effective so far, with customers favouring being able to spread the cost of repairs," said a spokesman for Jetty Service Centre. "A lot of the motorcycles on Malé are quite old and need regular attention," he continued. "We train our mechanics so they are more productive, which helps make the scheme work."

Extract F

Mugz

Mugz is a small business in Tasmania, Australia that produces a wide range of drinking mugs. There are many designs but each is printed on a basic mug. The mugs are sold to souvenir shops across the country, to be purchased by tourists. Mass production allows costs to be kept to a minimum and even faulty products can be sold to discount stores.
